We hope that you have enjoyed Exposición de Arte Marroquí. Córdoba, 1946. Many thanks for filling out the survey; it will be very useful for evaluating the success and impact of the exhibition. The exhibition is a collaboration between Casa Árabe and the University of Aberdeen through the project 'Past and Present Musical Encounters across the Strait of Gibraltar' (MESG_758221), funded by the European Research Council (ERC). The study has received ethical approval from the ERC.

For more information, please contact the Principal Investigator: Dr Matthew Machin-Autenrieth (matthew.machin-autenrieth@abdn.ac.uk).

How will your information be used and stored?

All of the personal information obtained as a result of the survey will remain confidential and will not be disclosed. The responses will be stored on password protected computers and in the protected system at the University of Aberdeen. Primarily, the results of the survey will be used to evaluate the success and impact of the exhibition. It is possible that the results will be disseminated in academic publications, conferences and through teaching. If we use information in these contexts and you have indicated your name in the survey, we will maintain anonymity.

Further information

We will use the personal data that is provided to undertake the project, and the University of Aberdeen will function as the data controller for this purpose. The legal basis for using your personal information is to carry out academic research in the public interest. This information will consist of your gender, nationality, ethnicity and opinions, although we will never ask for your address.
